"The standing ovation Al received at the IKEA Renton River Days Banquet is a testament to his courage, sense of humor, and positive outlook. He is a true winner! Whether speaking in schools or the workplace, I believe that Mr. Foxx's message will bring a fresh point of view to living or working along side people with disabilities."

Jesse Tanner
 City of Renton Mayor

"Al Foxx is one unique and funny comedian. He puts the audience at ease with his disability while using it to provide a fresh and hilarious insight into how he copes with it and his world. I would gladly work with Al again and suggest you book this highly clever and hilarious comedian."

Geoff Young
 U.S. Comedy Arts Festival
 Good Morning America

"Stay home when he drives, but drive all night to hear him speak. He touches both the heart and the funny bone. He is an inspiring motivational speaker and kids of all ages need to hear his message."

Dr. Jeanne Anne Craig
 School Psychologist

"His humorous accounts of how people have responded to him since his accident will delight you but at the same time cause you to examine your own response to co-workers and others with disabilities. Al knows what people with disabilities want others to know about them."

Fran Hooper
 Costco Wholesale Training

"Your humorous journey inspired all our salespeople, from the most recently hired to the most experienced man on our crew. You provided us not only with new goals, but with gut wrenching laughter and a renewed power to reach the goals we set."

Mark Babcock, General Manager.
 Lexus of Bellevue

"Your talk was informative, humorous, emotional, and most of all helped send the message that having a disability is just a minor obstacle toward leading a productive life."

Taposh Rudra
 Texas A & M, Corpus Christi

"The standing ovation you received was well deserved."

Robert B. Grady
 SAGE President

Comments from employees at John Deere:

"Al Foxx was a very good speaker with a great message about not giving up and believing in people. I liked how he related disabilities to just differences in people which we deal with everyday in and outside of work."

"Great job in speaker selection. The message was delivered effectively and humorously. Please continue to focus in on the real diversity issues. Less fluff and more events like this!"

Comments from students at Elementary Schools through Universities.

"I never saw things that way before. I hope he comes back."

"Al Foxx was an open book with his story that allowed me to read, enjoy, search and learn."

"Very moving and inspirational. I thoroughly enjoyed listening to you. You were extremely funny, too! Thank you for sharing."
